Ruth Ann DiDonato's practice spans multiple civil matters. As a member of the firm's Legal Services Group, Ruth Ann's professional experience includes bankruptcy, civil litigation, consumer law, collection, real estate and wills, trusts and estates. In addition to providing counseling and representation in trusts and estates matters, Ruth Ann prepares documents such as wills, living wills, powers of attorney, health care directives and related declarations.

An experienced practitioner, Ruth Ann takes great pride in having represented working individuals and their families throughout her career. Ruth Ann's bankruptcy work has included representation of debtors in Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 bankruptcy cases, from preparing bankruptcy petitions and pleadings to attending creditors' meetings, to litigation and dismissal hearings. Her consumer law experience has included identity theft, credit report disputes and debtor and creditor disputes, among other matters.

Prior to joining Willig, Williams & Davidson, Ruth Ann was an associate and managed the New Jersey office of a full-service Philadelphia law firm.

WHAT INSPIRES ME ABOUT MY WORK

"I draw inspiration from my own upbringing and truly appreciate the working people I serve. My goal is to help them through whatever they are facing and to be someone they can lean on."

AWAY FROM WORK

"I was fortunate to travel extensively in my youth in Europe, Asia and Africa, as my mother worked for an airline. Each year, my mother selected an interesting place to visit. History became alive for my sisters and me. Now that I am a mother, I travel with my husband to our daughter's soccer games. She plays for a competitive club in Southern New Jersey."
